Pigeon racing is top sport! The effort to achieve ever better results requires to provide the highest quality pigeon feed and dietary supplements. Nutrievo understands the needs of professional enthusiasts: a special diet which meets the highest nutritional demands of today's sport-pigeon!

Of the modern pigeon is expected a top performance throughout the season. Sprint and middle distance pigeons fly every week. The pigeons for range or two-day flights are specially prepared for these flights. Good nutrition is crucial for endurance racing. The pigeons are fed the different base mixes as a solid foundation. To achieve the performance peaks at the right time the addition of special supplements is required.

Nutrievo specializes in the development of natural dietary supplements for animals. A particular challenge was the combination of high quality raw materials combined with omega-3 fatty acids. This new product is combined with a mixture of pure linseed and salmon oil. A unique combination! The product is odorless and can be directly fed to the pigeons.

The basis of the product are the two colored, easily absorbable Crumlets®. These offer a challenging amount of valuable vitamins and minerals, supplemented by essential trace elements in high-absorbable chelated form. This product offers a large amount of rapidly available energy by the high proportion of easily digestible components. The omega-3 ratio offers a unique opportunity for the resistance, endurance and fast recovery is maximized.

In particular the natural ingredients provide a better moisture balance at the cellular level. This leads to a significant increase in endurance. Extremely expensive endurance horses in the world and in the hot climate of the Middle East are fed comparable. Nutrievo Pigeon Endurance is based on years of experience of animal nutritionists and veterinarians. Most of the Dutch lofts in 2011 showed unique performance results.

Omega 3 Salmon Pearls (O3SP)

The product development department of Nutrievo has developed a truly unique ingredient. It is the combination of specially selected raw materials with high absorption (APC) and high-quality oils. The odorless oil is a combination of linseed oil and pure salmon oil. These oils provide the best ratio of Omega 3, 6 and 9 currently known.

Omega 3 Salmon Pearls (O3SP) is the practice-friendly way to supply the demand for Omega-3 ALA, DPA and DHA fatty acids to meet the endurance pigeons nutritional requirements. After an intensive testing phase, in which the carrier is optimized to feed the pigeons of this product after a very short getting used period. This supplement provides the necessary energy to power the modern endurance pigeon.

Scottish salmon oil

Salmon oil contains omega-3 fatty acids. There are several known positive effects of salmon oil and side effects are virtually nonexistent. After years of research and many publications salmon oil has proven beneficial effects on health and immunity. Not only in childhood and the development of brain tissue, but also the immunity building and recovery after strenuous exercise is optimally supported. This oil is very rich in omega-3 fatty acids. For this product we use only the finest quality raw material directly from Scotland.

Linseed oil

The linseed oil is extracted from the dried, ripe seed of flax. Raw linseed oil is cold pressed. The positive effect of flaxseed is partly due to the large amounts of vitamin B, lecithin, zinc, and a high dose of omega-3 oils. Flaxseed is known for its highest levels of omega-3. The benefits of flax seed to reach every part of the body including the cardiovascular, immune and reproductive organs, and the central nervous system, bones and joints.

Pigeons can easily benefit from the positive effects of salmon and flaxseed oil omega-3 with Nutrievo Pigeon Endurance.
